DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This Office action is in response to the amendment filed on March 2, 2001. Applicant has amended canceled claims 22-24, and 45-46, amended claim 49, and added claims 51-55. Claims 1-7, 11, 13-15, 19-21, 25-31, 36-44, 47-55 are pending in the application. The amendment has been considered but ineffective to overcome the 35 U.S.C. 103 rejection of paper No 20.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-7, 11, 13-15, 19-21, 25-31, and 35-40, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chang et al. (Patent No. 5,884,288) in view of Sharpe et al. (Patent No. 5,222,018) as set forth in the previous Office action of paper number 20.

4. Claims 7, 25-26 and 36-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chang et al. (Patent No. 5,884,288) in view of Sharpe et al. (Patent No. 5,222,018), and further in view of Pintsov et al. (Patent No. 5,612,889) as set forth in the prior Office action of paper number 20.

Art Unit: 2163

5. Claims 11 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chang et al. (Patent No. 5,884,288), in view of Sharpe et al. (Patent No. 5,222,018), as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Mersky et al (Patent No. 6,119,106) as set forth in the prior Office action of paper No. 20.

6. Claims 13-14 and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chang et al. (Patent No. 5,884,288), in view of Sharpe et al. (Patent No. 5,222,018), as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Anderson et al. (Patent No. 6,021,202) as set forth in the prior Office action of paper No. 20.

7. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chang et al. (Patent No. 5,884,288), in view of Sharpe et al. (Patent No. 5,222,018), in view of Anderson et al. (Patent No. 6,021,202) and further in view of Hilt et al. (Patent No. 5,465,206) as set forth in the prior Office action of paper No. 20.

Response to Arguments

8. As per claims 1, 19, 35, 49, and 50, applicant argues that Chang fails to teach or suggest the receipt of respective sets of payment requests, with each set corresponding to an associated set of payors requesting payments to a plurality of payees. The examiner disagrees because Chang does teach a plurality of payors requesting payment request to be made to a plurality of payees. Note the abstract of Chang.

As per claims 2, 3, 21, and 42-43, applicant argues that Chang does not receive differently formatted sets of payment request, and does not suggest a normalization of differently formatted sets of payment request. The examiner disagrees because, it is noted that Chang teaches ensuring proper payment format (col. 9, line 1-12). Therefore, it is the examiner's position that receiving the payments in "first, second, and the third format" operates in the same manner as receiving payments in the proper payment format. The step of normalizing the first payment request to correspond to a normalized format and generating the payment direction based upon the normalized first payment requests formal payment would have been obvious to a skilled artisan in order to create a more efficient and effective method of processing the payment requests into a single standard format.

As per claim 7, 25-27, 36-38 and 47, applicant agrees that Pintsov teaches an eleven-digit zip code but not an eleven-digit code to access or retrieve a payee record. The examiner disagrees because combine this type of eleven digit zip code into the Chang's electronic bill payment system would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art in order to facilitate the delivery of payment data to a user's specific address or location.

Applicant asserted that it appears that claims 8-10 were inadvertently not mentioned. According to paper number 10, it appears that these claims had already been canceled.

As per claims 11, 28-30 and 40, Applicant argues that the combination of Chang and Mersky fails to teach or suggest identifying of characters of an account number to select a single delivery point to which payment is directed. The examiner notes that Mersky clearly discloses scanning the customer's information (account number) and sending said information for processing (col. 9, line 8-67). Therefore, It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the applicant's invention to incorporate the scanning of the customer's information (account number) in the Chang's system for obtaining customer's payment information as evidenced by Mersky. Doing so would allow Chang with the capability to deliver prompt and efficient payment to his customers.

As per claims 13-15, 31, 39 and 49, Applicant argues that the combination of Chang and Anderson fails to teach or suggest a received account number be altered based on alteration rules. The examiner disagrees with the applicant's argument.. Applicant is directed to paragraph number of paragraph 7 of paper number 20.

As per the added claims 51, 52, 53, 54, Chang fails to explicitly disclose the payor's payment requests are consolidated. Official Notice is taken consolidating payment requests is old and well known in the electronic bill presentment art. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the applicant's invention to consolidate the payment requests in order to allow multiple payments to be represented by a single payment so that a single electronic payment may represent a large sum.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
